In 2019, CCLC led a successful effort to overhaul child care eligibility rules for low-income parents who are struggling to get back on their feet and enroll in CalWORKs. The new rule assures these parents uninterrupted child care without conditions. The outcome will be that parents will be able to rely on steady child care while they work to get ahead, and children will have quality early learning.

Child Care Law Center is exempt from taxation under Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3) and California Revenue and Taxation Code Section 23701d.

Generally accepted accounting principles provide accounting and disclosure guidance about positions taken by an organization in its tax returns that might be uncertain. Management has considered its tax positions and believes that all of the positions taken by Child Care Law Center in their federal and state exempt organization tax returns are more likely than not to be sustained upon examination. Child Care Law Center's returns are subject to examination by federal and state taxing authorities, generally for three and four years, respectively, after they are filed.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a, Program Service Accomplishments:

CCLC has been helping cities and towns reform their municipal ordinances, promote child care businesses, and support entrepreneurial services for families in the community. After CCLC achieved dozens of local successes, it changed the state law to make rules universal and uniform.

Healthy and safe child care:

CCLC closely monitors licensing regulations, advocates for regular inspections, free or low-cost training, and clear rules that are in keeping with early childhood development. CCLC supports child care providers to contribute their knowledge and expertise to the health and safety policy-making process.

Inclusive child care for everyone:

CCLC prioritizes the children from communities of color, with disabilities, living with resource families or who face other extraordinary hurdles. For example, CCLC makes sure that children with medical needs are included in child care programs, and compels alignment between state and federal funding to expand access to child
